

Haiti Roundtable

Sponsored by Sigma Iota Rho, RESPE: Haiti, Discourse, IR Director's Leadership Council, Tufts IR Program, and the Institute for Global Leadership

Wednesday, March 3rd
7:00 PM, Cabot Auditorium

What should the role of the U.S. be in rebuilding Haiti?

Join members of the Tufts faculty, Haitian scholars, and a U.S. Lieutenant Colonel for an interactive panel discussion about the role of the United States in Haiti's recovery.

Does the U.S. have a special historical obligation to help Haiti recover and rebuild?

How can U.S. and international relief and development efforts be most effective and build upon local Haitian mechanisms of development and recovery?

The program will include statements by each of the speakers, a panel discussion and a Q&A session.

Participating Speakers

LTC Dale R. Buckner, SSC Fellow at Tufts Fletcher School

Alix Cantave, UMass Boston and Tufts UEP Program Lecturer

Peniel Joseph, Tufts Professor of African-American History

Nesly Metayer, Senior Fellow Faculty at Center for Public Management, Suffolk University

Katrina Swett, Tufts Professor of U.S. Foreign Policy
